

DEDICATED TO THE RESTORATION & PRESERVATION OF 1932-1953 FORD MOTOR CAR COMPANY VEHICLES

A Tour Back In Time.

July 9- A great day at the Campo Truck Museum! A LITTLE over the projected temperature of 73 degrees...more like HOT! I was only yelled at once or twice for climbing on the "displays". Hard not to touch when your favorite cars are TRUCKS! We spend hours with the folks who run the museum...they even made ice cream for us. Mark grilled us lunch, then packed up to go to his next grilling gig. When you're good...you're in demand! Our guests were Bob and Marty Parker. It's always amazing to discover what a small world it is. Bob lived down the road from the museum when he was young. He and the museum folks shared a lot of common friends and acquaintances. It was great listening to all their stories. -Candy Greene

The Prez Sez.

July has warmed up now, but the weather was fine for the Campo truck museum tour on the 9th. I was amazed to see over 200 trucks, mostly 1 ton plus. I found it interesting that the 1924 Cadillac touring coach had a flat head V8 in it. The event was a success with a hotdog and burger grilling and lunch out under the patio cover. It was a nice cruise out Hwy 94. I would like to see more members attending these events. Afterward, Patty and I joined Rick and Betty Stores for a cruise up to Julian for some delicious pie and coffee.

At our July 19th meeting, Greg Long from AAA talked about changes in the Calif registration policy and procedures. The presentation included tips and techniques for dealing with car insurance and registration.

Upcoming events: Thurs, Aug 11- La Mesa Cruise Night from 3:00 to 7:30 with EFV8 reserved parking on 3rd Ave. Join the "flat head" fans with your car. Aug 17th, Gen meeting, it's the WD40 presentation.

Aug 21st :The Ice Cream Social plus a bonus treasure hunt before dessert. For August and September, Barb Martin has organized some extra events - listed in the FAN and emails. Don't miss these tours- especially the Mission Bay Sunset Cruise. Sept 21st Gen meeting: A pre-meeting tour of the J. A. Cooley Museum starts at 4pm - then we eat before the Gen meeting.

The Lady 8ers appreciated Avalee Smith's set of presidential First Lady dolls at the Jul Gen meeting. They also held their High Tea on July 21st. If you have a tech tip or topic you would like to know more about, please contact me or Richard Teubner.

My favorite first car

— by John Hildebrand

I remember fondly all of the cars the Hildebrand family drove before I got “my” first car. I recall my father bought a forest green 1948 Chevrolet truck that we used to take deer hunting. The problem was that when we parked it and went hunting, we often “lost” the green truck in the forest (probably the best thing to do with a Chevrolet). He then got wise and bought a 1951 red Ford pickup with a flathead V8 and a granny four speed. We didn’t lose it so much and it would go up the mountain trails better with the V8. Then he updated to a 1953 model truck with flathead a 4-speed. It was white and much easier to find in the woods. The ’53 eventually went to my older brother who fixed it up and put big “mountain climbing” tires on the back. We had many adventures going up mountains and through the desert. We then got a nice baby blue 1956 Ford truck (I wish I had that one back), then a ’58 Ford truck and a 1958 Ranchero that became a daily driver for me until I got my own car. I remember standing in the front yard with my younger brother watching up the road when my Dad drove home a 1958 Fairlane hardtop. It was smoking slightly and ran REALLY bad. My little brother joked about it being “MY” car. I didn’t hit him that time. When we got a chance to tear into it we found that the spark plugs had probably never been changed by the previous owner. With a quick tune up, the Y-block came to life and I went roaring off in the first car that was really “mine.”

I drove the Fairlane for a good while and had many fond memories of the car. Then one day, my little brother brought home a 1955 Ford Crown Victoria with the sun roof but without a motor. He was not yet old enough to drive legally but went right to fixing up the car and detailing it. We found a nice ’54 Merc Y-block engine and trans to put in it. I liked the ’55 so much that I traded him the ’58 for the Crown Vic and drove that car until I was almost 19 years old. Boy, I really wish I had that one back! I got stupid and traded it in for a 1963 Galaxy with a 406/4-speed because it was much faster. Although I drove the flathead and Y-block cars and trucks, none of them were really “mine” until the Fairlane. It was truly my “first” car, but my favorite was the Crown Victoria which was actually my second car!

On July 16 John lit up the tires on his Model A Coupe at the Barona Antique drags - averaging 108 in 6 sec and change on the 1/8 mile strip. He took ‘The Gambler’ race & made it to the second round. In the background, the Rockabilly Tour featuring mostly Rat Rods, gathered around a loud DJ and vender tents. Many guys bearing an uncanny resemblance to Elvis, ’55, stopped to rubber neck one naked mannequin with peak-a-boo tattoos. -TS

Let's Eat -- Redneck Turtle Burgers

Handmade ground beef paddies, topped with with sharp cheddar cheese, wrapped in a bacon weave, then the next step, add hot dogs as the hind, legs with slits for toes and tail. Next step. Place on an oven rack, covered loosely with foil at 400 degrees. A crispy, not too crunchy... just how a turtle should be, no?

World's Smallest Petrol Engine to Replace Batteries.

The Birmingham team of scientists from the University's engineering school have built the world's smallest petrol engine, tiny enough to power a WATCH. The mini-motor, which runs for two years on a single squirt of lighter fuel, is set to revolutionize world technology. It produces 700 times more energy than a conventional battery despite being less than a centimeter long not even half an inch. It could be used to operate laptops and mobile phones for months doing away with the need for recharging. Experts believe it could be phasing out batteries in such items within just six years. Next step nano sterling motors that work on body heat. 1940s pictures of Lockheed during WWII - before the camouflage netting and after - showing the lengths to which we went to protect ourselves. "As a boy, I lived in the area watching it being set up like a movie studio production. They had fake houses, trees, etc. and moved parked cars around so it looked like a residential area from the skies overhead." -Bill Tibor

"I was 13 years old and lived in North Long Beach during the War. The Long Beach airport was near Lakewood, CA. and a large Boeing Plant was there. If you drove down Carson St. going south you passed under the netting." -Judy Thompson

"I am 85 and had much of my pilot training in Calif. I have been under this net and have seen it from the air. During preflight training I rode a bus every day under the net. It was strong enough to walk on top of and they hired people to ride bicycles and move around as if they lived there to make it look authentic." -Tom Billings

You can't make this stuff up.

"This 1950 Business Coupe was taken off the road in 1960 with only 26,000 miles on it. It was converted to a A/Gas car called 'The Blunder'. It ran a 430 Lincoln, four speed and a GMC truck rear with 488 gears. It hit the drag strips in '62 and was raced around the midwest. In '71 my brother bought the car. He was 19 and I was 14. We raced at Minnesota Dragway in the early '70s until we blew the Lincoln. We swapped the blown motor with a 389 Tri Power Pontiac and raced occasionally but mostly street drove it until '74. In '75 we sold the motor to one guy, the top loader trans to another and the body to a third guy. In 1990 we bought the body back in the same condition as we had sold it in '75. In '91 it was sitting in my backyard when that same guy saw it and bought it back to use in the Nostalgic drags with his son. Unfortunately he passed away in 2003 before finishing it. 'The Blunder' was sold in the estate sale to a hot rodder, but then he found another '50 that was a better candidate for his street rod. So I bought it back in 2010- still in the same condition from 1975 - except the rear had been changed to a nine inch. I was the last to drive 'The Blunder' back in '74. But now it's home again, where my dream WILL

MATERIALIZE! It will be fitted with a 450-hp, 454 and turbo 400 to debut at the 2011 Car Craft nationals. This time it will be mostly driven on the street with an occasional blast down the 1320."----Roy Mastel (excerpts from Old Car Weekly)--TS

...still out there. Mike K's '34 5 window- Northern Illinois EFV8, Regional Group #8

A car that created almost as much interest as the contestants at the Mexican road race was this 1952 Ford with Continental spare tire kit and the new wire wheels, owned by Dana Hudelson of the Hudelson-Whitebone Company.

Below: Train hits Deer- Q #1 - "Is my grandson OK? Q #2 - Where is he? ... I'm going to strangle him." No one was injured but Police did have to caution people that got near the tractor motor laying on the ground as it was still running... hence the slogan: Nothing Runs Like a Deer.

Fire Truck

I have this '56 Ford pickup I call my 'Fire Truck'. In 1999 my friend and I were headed to Hot August Nights. He was driving a nice 1929 Model A Ford pickup.

I was heading up 163 near Mira Mesa, it was about 4:30 AM so pretty dark. The truck just lost power and I headed for the side of the road. Because my nose does not work I could not smell anything. I opened the hood and there was a huge ball of fire- it lit up everything. I had a fire extinguisher in the bed of the truck and quickly shot it into the engine compartment. (you can see some of the white powder on the fender) Amazing how fast that works. I had it towed back to San Diego and took out my 'stuff' and put it in my other '56 Ford pickup (it is blue). My friend and I headed out again, just two hours behind time. (He and I almost always drive two, just in case). The fire blistered the paint on the hood, melted the carburetor and fried the wiring, other than that it was fine. After the trip we fixed it and painted the hood, it looks 'all better now'. Later --Walter Andersen
